It's maple syrup time!

The annual ritual has started for another brief season

Every year at about this time, when the sun drives daytime temperatures up well above freezing, and the crisp night air puts an icy crust on fast diminishing snow, it happens.

Though you can't see it on the outside, and though the frost remains deep in the ground, the heat of the sun brings sap from the roots of maple trees and draws it up into the branches, stirring the trees back to life after their winter dormancy.

It was the Indians who first discovered that the sap could be turned into a thick, sweet syrup. They learned to gather it and place it in hollowed out logs, and found that heated stones placed in the sap could produce syrup in a matter of hours. And when the pioneers arrived, they wasted little time in learning the technique and refining the method.

Making maple syrup in heavy iron pots over an open fire became a spring ritual in Canada, and it is a ritual that has survived to this day.

But though hundreds of people still tap a few trees and gather enough sap to make a gallon or two of syrup for their own consumption, most people get their maple syrup from commercial producers who gather the sap in plastic lines and boil it off in huge evaporators.

Wally Crofts of RR 2 Haliburton is one such producer, and to his knowledge, he's one of the five biggest in Ontario. This year, he has 8,200 taps and if all goes well, at least 1,500 gallons of syrup will carry his Iron Kettle Maple Products label before the season is over.

Since 1967 the coming of the sap has meant weeks of 20 hour days for Crofts. That was the year he bought his first evaporator and went into commercial production. Before that he had learned to make it in iron kettles on the family farm, like scores of other Haliburton County residents.

Preparation for the syrup making season begins in the autumn for Crofts, when he heads out into the woods to hang up some of the 30 miles of plastic

County council okays '79 budget of $693,627 up 2% over last year

Haliburton County Council took only a few minutes last Wednesday to approve a 1979 budget of $693,627, approximately two percent higher than 1978's $677,735 budget. Last year's budget included $25,000 for a planning study however, an expenditure that won't be required this year. That means the actual increase in this year's budget for normal expenditures is approximately six percent, an increase that still falls within provincial guidelines, according to budget committee chairman, Murray Fearrey.

This year's budget contained no surprises, and county councillors had few questions of the budget committee chairman as he outlined proposed expenditures point by point.

Biggest single expenditure in the budget is for roads. A total of $358,000 will be contributed by the county this year for maintenance and improvement. More than $1.3 million will be added to this by the Ministry of Transportation and Communication to meet the total county road budget for the year.

Last year the county spent $342,288.38 for road work, and the MTC added subsidies totalling $1,334,374.07.

Under General Government, the 1979 budget calls for expenditures of $71,000, an increase of $8,000 over the $63,000 called for in 1978.

Biggest increases in expenditures under General Government are expected to be for property, committee meetings, and bank interest, according to the budget committee.

Expenditures in the category of Protection to Persons and Property are expected to rise by $500 over last year's project expenditures of $1,700. The change is the result of an increase in wolf bounty funds from $1,000 to $1,500. Actual expenditures for wolf bounty last year were $1,150.

Under Health Services, the county expects to spend $31,300, up $2,300 over last year. Support grants of $30,250 to the Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit, up from $27,950 in 1978, account for the increase.

Under Social and Family Services, the new budget calls for expenditures of $142,827, up more than $12,000 over last year. Biggest single increase is for expenditures at the Hyland Crest Home, which are expected to rise by $10,000, to $90,000 this year.

In the category of Recreation and Cultural Services, the county expects to spend $43,600, $4,600 more than was spent last year. Main difference is an increase in the County Library budget from $31,500 to $36,000. The increase was less than the Library Board had asked for however. Fearrey told council the $38,000 the board had asked for represented an increase of close to 25 percent over actual 1978 library expenditures.

Expenditures under Planning and Development are expected to fall by more than $20,000 in 1979, down to $44,700 from the $65,500 called for last year. Reason for the decline is the fact that the planning study was completed last year at a cost of $24,501 and the expenditure is not required this year.

The County's grant to the Chamber of Commerce will remain at $13,000, the same amount provided last year.

Grant for the Economic Development Commission, a committee of the Chamber, will be increased by $1,500 to

Council approves grants for 31 charities, organizations

Grants totalling $31,950 for 21 charities and organizations in Haliburton County were approved last week when County Council adopted a 1979 budget.

In recommending the grants for approval, however, council's budget committee suggested a toughening up of their policy on grants. No grants should be considered in the future, budget committee chairman, Murray Fearrey said, unless organizations provide the committee with a financial statement.

As well, he said, large grants for particular projects would be given only once, and groups should no longer expect financial help from council year after year.

Biggest grants this year went to the newly revived Haliburton County Economic Development Committee, the Minden Library-Museum project, and to the Chamber of Commerce for the purchase of more County Tartan material.

That grant is temporary however, and must be back to the county at $1,000 a year over the next three years with money made from the sale of the Tartan.

Other grants approved last week were: Haliburton

Ratepayers angry over topless entertainment, restaurant operator to appear in court

Coboconk residents are up in arms

A Coboconk resident will appear in provincial court in Lindsay Friday to face charges of contravening a Bexley Township by-law.

Alex Vanderveen, who opened the Green Acres Restaurant for only two nights, March 16 and 17, will face a charge for providing topless entertainment at the restaurant in contravention of a by-law passed by council the night before the restaurant opened.

A conviction under the by-law could bring a fine of $10,000 or a jail sentence of not less than one year, or both.

Bexley Township reeve Everett Cameron said Tuesday that the council had "approved in principle" the reopening of the restaurant, which had been closed for a number of months, on the understanding that it would be a family type operation.

When it became clear that Vanderveen intended to provide topless entertainment in the restaurant, at the corner of Highways 35 and 48, council informed him that they would seek an injunction to prevent the opening, reeve Cameron said.

To put teeth into their desire for a family restaurant, council drafted a by-law, in consultation with their solicitor, Ted Starr, to prohibit nude, semi nude, topless, or bottomless entertainment in the Township.

The by-law was passed at a special session Thursday, March 15, the day before the restaurant was scheduled to open, and according to reeve Cameron, Vanderveen was told that it was on the books.

The restaurant was open two nights before it closed because of lack of staff, according to Vanderveen. At a council meeting last Tuesday, close to 100 ratepayers turned up to express support for the by-law.

The meeting was a stormy one, according to reports from ratepayers who attended.

Reeve Cameron said Tuesday that he was unaware a public delegation was going to attend the meeting until they turned up.

According to the reeve, a number of matters were discussed which he felt should have been heard only in court, since the solicitor was working on the matter at the time of the meeting.

Vanderveen is apparently planning to bring counter charges stemming from what he termed slander and threats in connection with the incident.

Reeve Cameron said Tuesday that he was "caught in the middle" at the meeting, between the public and some members of council.

He added, however, that with the court appearance scheduled for Friday, "it will come to a head now one way or the other."

Foxes seen close to homes, council will ask MOH to hold rabies clinic in spring

Haliburton County Council will ask the medical officer of health to hold rabies clinics in the county before summer.

The decision came in response to a letter from Haliburton Kawartha Pine Ridge District Health Unit MOH Dr. D. E. Mikel, in which he said no such clinics were planned for the area this year.

Dr. Mikel's statement came despite numerous reports of foxes close to inhabited areas in recent weeks, behaviour which is often characteristic of infected animals.

Citing reports of foxes in backyards in the Kennisiss Lake area and earlier reports of rabid foxes near Norland, Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey told council he felt a rabies clinic should be held in the county this spring.

"I don't think we should wait until someone is bitten by a rabid fox. I think we should request one right away," Fearrey said.

Last year, there were 70 confirmed cases of rabies in animals in the area covered by the Haliburton Kawartha

Pine Ridge District Health Unit, according to Unit statistics. Of that number, two were dogs, five cats, 13 livestock, and the other 50 reported cases effected wild animals.

In 1977, 81 confirmed cases of rabies were reported in the district, including 47 instances effecting livestock and 27 instances effecting wild animals.

Since 1967, the average number of reported rabies cases in the district has been 74 per year, or an average of one infected animal for every 49 square miles of land.

This compares with an average of one rabid animal for every 1,825 square miles in Manitoba, and one animal for every 8,325 square miles in Quebec.

Main reason for the higher number of rabies cases in Southern Ontario is the confining effect of the Great Lakes and rivers to the north and east, according to Dr. Mikel.

Domestic animals (dogs and cats), which make up only ten percent of the reported rabid animal population, account for 90 percent of human exposure to rabies in Southern Ontario, Dr. Mikel indicated.

A rabies clinic would provide vaccinations for domestic animals.

County council was unanimous in calling on the Health Unit to hold such clinics in the county as soon as possible.

The request will be forwarded to the Medical Officer of Health.

Haliburton's Tartan gets second chance

Haliburton County's tartan will have a new lease on life. Three bolts of the tartan, which was designed especially for the county, were purchased from Scottish weavers two years ago, and have since been used up.

The Chamber of Commerce attempted to include the nearly $3,000 cost of a new order in its budget last year, but County Council said no to the item.

Recently, a number of individual businesses and groups, including area Boy Scouts, have expressed concern about the possible loss of the tartan if more could not be ordered.

But at a meeting last Wednesday, County Council approved a 1979 budget that includes $3,000 for the purchase of three more bolts of the material.

It will take at least three months for the material to be woven and shipped to the county, but more tartan should be available by summer to meet the demands of the tourist trade.

Only stipulation attached to the grant is that it must be paid back at the rate of $1,000 a year beginning in 1980. The Chamber of Commerce will continue to be responsible for the sale of the tartan, and revenues from those sales will be used to repay the county.

Council wants road repaired

Highway 519 between Eagle Lake and Highway 121 has been ruining shocks and jolting drivers for years but that may soon change if Haliburton County Council has its way.

At their regular meeting last Wednesday, council passed a resolution calling on

Hyland Crest workers get $1.06 over two years

County ratifies new contract

Haliburton County Council ratified last week, a collective agreement between the Hyland Crest Senior Citizens home and members of the Canadian Union of Public Employees, local 1225, that calls for a two-year contract and wage increases averaging $1.06 an hour.

The agreement was reached at a meeting between the two sides February 19.

Covered under the terms of the new contract are Registered Nursing Assistants, maintenance staff, secretaries, kitchen staff and officer workers.

The new contract calls for wage increases of 46 cents an hour retroactive to January 1, 1979 for all union members employed at the home, with the exception of RNA's, who will get a 51 cents an hour increase as of January 1 this year.

All hourly rates will be increased by a further 20 cents an hour July 1, 1979, January 1, 1980 and July 1, 1980, for a total wage package of $1.11 for RNA's, and $1.06 for all other employees.

Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey, chairman of the council's negotiating committee, said the increase for RNA's was larger because the Anti-Inflation Board had rolled back by 15 cents, wage increases for the RNA's granted in the 1978 contract. The roll back reduced the RNA's that took into account their nursing responsibilities, Fearrey told council.

Only other concession made in this year's bargaining session was an increase in the uniform allowance to $25 a year from $20 for part-time employees, and to $40 a year from $35 for full-time em-

$4,000. Also included under the Planning and Development category is a grant of $3,000 for the purchase of more county Tartan. The grant must be repaid however, as the material is sold over the next three years.

Grants from the provincial government and other revenues will raise $96,936 toward this year's budget, with the remaining $596,691 coming from taxation levies assessed against the various municipalities.

The apportionment of levies is based on the ratio of equalized assessments to the total equalized assessment across the county. Apportionment has frequently been protested in the past and municipalities generally remain dissatisfied with the system.

Sole dissenter in the voting to approve levies this year was Sinc Nesbitt, reeve of Anson, Hindon and Minden. The municipality will contribute $107,538.38, or 18.69 percent of the total county levy.

The Improvement District of Bicroft will contribute $11,933.82 this year, 2.08 percent of the total.

Cardiff's levy is $32,161.65 5.59 percent of the total.

Biggest contributor to the county budget is Dysart et al. The municipality will bear 32.03 percent of the total county levy, or $205,440.71, up from $187,676.12 it paid last year.

Glamorgan's share remains about the same as $36,756.17, or 6.39 percent of the total.

Levy for Lutterworth was set at $44,334.14, 7.70 percent of the budget.

Monmouth ratepayers will contribute 4.20 percent of the budget, or $24,225.65.

The levy for Sherborne, at 8.22 percent, fell more than $2,500 to $47,317.60.

Snowdon's levy was up a little over $1,000, to $21,421.21, which represents 3.72 percent of the budget.

Stanhope's levy fell by nearly $4,000, to $65,516.67, or 11.38 percent of the total.

Levies last year brought in $587,747, about $10,000 less than the county requires this year.

Children's Services group meets but representative isn't told

Haliburton County Council has a representative on the area Children's Services committee, but that member is almost never informed of when the committee will meet. And as a result, council has no idea of when the committee will meet. And as a result, council has no idea what the committee is doing.

Major Glynn Lewis, deputy reeve of Lutterworth, told Council last Wednesday that he seldom received notification of meetings, and that when he did, it usually came within hours of the meeting time, making it difficult for him to attend.

Lewis presented a resolution to council calling on the committee to inform him of meeting dates well in advance.

The whole matter caused confusion among council, who seemed hard pressed to know what the committee's mandate was, and what it was supposed to accomplish.

And the matter was further confused when Monmouth reeve Keith Tallman, who was appointed to a Children's Services nominating committee in December, told council that the committee had met several times, and had in his opinion, accomplished little or nothing.

The nominating committee was set up to appoint a second committee which would conduct a needs study in Haliburton, Peterborough, Victoria and Northumberland Counties, the areas within the Children's Services committee's jurisdiction, Tallman said.

Tallman told council he wanted to resign from the committee, because it was taking up more time than he could afford to give up.

Council accepted the resignation, and decided to appoint Lewis to the position.

Lewis' resolution was supported by council, with an addition, suggested by Dysart et al reeve Murray Fearrey, stating that unless proper notification is given of future meetings, the county will consider pulling out of the system altogether.

Galway Cavendish approves board

A new Parks and Recreation Board was established recently for the townships of Galway and Cavendish.

Formation of the board came with the passing of a by-law at council's March meeting.

Appointed for a period ending December 1, 1980, were: Harry Stuart, Harry Platt, Merl Villeneuve, Angie Franzen, Lil Platt, Glen Gill-ham, and Vince Allen. Appointed for a term ending December 1 of this year were Wayne Windover and Thelma Brown.

Reeve Carl Brickman is an ex officio member of the board, with the municipal clerk acting as secretary.

In other business, Gerry Jones was present to discuss the zoning of the Dharma Centre. After considerable discussion, Jones suggested that by-law 78-43 with regards to "Institutional" zoning be left as it is until he has an opportunity to discuss the by-law further with his lawyer.

If the lawyer is still dissatisfied, then the township solicitor will be contacted to have a specific by-law prepared for the Dharma Centre, council decided.

A grant of $35 will be made to the Victoria County Spring Festival of the Arts to be held in Kinmount from May 25 through June 3, council decided.

In other matters, council approved the suggestions made by the Galway Cavendish representatives on the North Kawartha Planning Board re: severance of large township lot holdings in the rural area as follows: "Notwithstanding section 1.5.2.1. (no more than severance in rural area), if the lots created by severance and the lots retained are a minimum size of a township lot each (approximately 100 acres) and if separate deeds existed for all lots at the time of the application, granting of such severances shall not act to reduce the allowable severances in 1.5.2.1." A copy of this resolution will be submitted to the North Kawartha Planning Board for their consideration.

Council also decided that since Section 1.56 of the North Kawartha Official Plan states that mobile home and tourist trailer parks are not permitted in Galway Cavendish; and to more fully convey the intent of council with regard to this matter, the above phrase be deleted and the following substituted: "Further mobile home and tourist trailer parks require an amendment to the Official Plan". The planning board representatives will be instructed to recommend this proposed change to the North Kawartha Planning Board at their next meeting.

The clerk-treasurer was also authorized to attend meetings during 1979 of The Association of Municipal Clerks and Treasurers of Ontario. Out of pocket expenses will be reimbursed to the clerk-treasurer by the municipality for all such meetings, council decided.

The proposed 1979 budget was discussed in committee of the whole, but no resolutions were passed when council resumed their regular session.

Cardiff council seeks study of assessment

Cardiff Township Council has asked the Ministry of Revenue to conduct a study to determine the effect that equalized assessment under Section 86 of The Assessment Act, would have on the assessment in the Township of Cardiff.

The decision came at council's regular meeting, March 8.

Equalized assessment is slated to be implemented in July across the province.

In other matters, council decided that due to an increase in the Ministry of Transportation and Communications maximum subsidizable rates for equipment rentals, MR222 effective January 1, 1979, equipment rental rates for Township owned roads' equipment were established as follows effective January 1, 1979:

1977 IHC, 50,000GVW (Truck #1) - 13.25 per hour plus 5.85 for snowplow harness.

1970 GMC, 28,000GVW (Truck #2) - 8.20 per hour.

1973 IHC, 32,000GVW (Truck #3) - 8.20 per hour plus 7.25 for sander body.

1975 IHC, 48,000GVW (Truck #4) - 13.25 per hour plus 5.85 for snowplow harness.

Grader, Wabco444, 125 h.p. - 13.50 per hour plus 2.00 for Vee plow.

Loader, JD 450C, 65 h.p. - 12.35 per hour.

Compressor, 150CFM - 7.95 per hour plus 3.25 for drill.

Steamer, propane fired - 6.90 per hour.

Trailer, 12T - 6.15 per hour.

Chainsaws - 1.70 per hour.

The above rates do not include labour.

A proposed program of road expenditures for the Township of Cardiff for the year of 1979 as follows: Construction $31,200, Maintenance $52,000 was adopted and will be submitted to the Ministry of Transportation

County ratifies agreement

Fearrey told council the increases bring workers at the home to wage levels equal to 1978 hospital rates.

Rates identical to those paid hospital staff have been granted by arbitrators to employees of some senior citizens homes in the province, the negotiating committee chairman said.

Agreement with the Hyland Crest workers marked the final round of negotiations between county council, various municipalities, and a number of CUPE locals.

For Wally Crofts and his family, the coming of spring means 20 hour days boiling sap

piping he uses to bring the sap from the bush to the production shed. He has been using plastic piping since 1967, adding more each year, but he always takes it down when the season is done and hangs it up again in the fall and spring. Producers in some areas have experimented with leaving the piping connected, but Crofts doesn't favour the method because of the possibility of contamination in the lines.

Individual lines are left hanging through fall and winter, and reconnected when the tapping begins early in March. Each tree gets one to three taps, depending on its girth and it takes an average of six taps over the entire sap run to produce a single gallon of syrup.

How much sap you must boil depends on its sugar content. If the sap is two percent sugar, it will take 42 gallons of it to produce a gallon of syrup. If the sugar content is three percent, it takes only 28 gallons of sap for that same gallon of syrup. The trees on Crofts land average 2.6 percent sugar, he says, with at least one tree putting out sap that is nine percent sugar.

Because of the economics of producing the syrup, Crofts says, sap that is under 2.2 percent sugar "is not worth boiling", at least for a commercial operator.

When the sap is running fast, as it was late last week, it is all Crofts, his family, and one hired man can do to keep up with the flow. He can store more than 2000 gallons of sap in the evaporator house, but for the best quality, the sap should be boiled off the same day it is gathered, he says. And if the weather is too warm and the sun too strong, that just isn't possible. In a normal year, Crofts says, he would produce 80 percent of his syrup in the first ten days of April. And he is happy if the weather runs colder and a little snow falls once in a while throughout the few weeks the sap is running. It gives him a chance to take a breather, and it means there's a better chance of producing high quality syrup.

Crofts has three evaporators, and running at peak capacity they can boil off 450 gallons of sap an hour. And in that hour, they'll consume 45 gallons of fuel oil, and produce, on average, ten to 15 gallons of syrup.

"You don't get much sleep for the time of the run," Crofts says. The evaporators must be watched constantly to keep temperatures right,

Louise Crofts labels gallon cans

The evaporators burn 45 gallons of oil an hour, and produce 10 to 15 gallons of syrup and three to four gallons of syrup must be drawn off every 20 minutes for finishing. Once finished in a small, oil fired pan, the syrup is put into cans while still hot.

Crofts produces three grades of syrup, Canada Fancy, which is light, makes excellent sugar, but which has a very mild taste; Canada Light, which is the most popular grade; and Canada medium which Crofts, and many other people prefer, because of its stronger maple taste.

By law, maple syrup produced in Canada must be pure, and must have a sugar content of at least 66 percent. In the United States, however, it's legal to blend the syrup with other substances, and pure maple syrup is a luxury.

At the moment, demand for syrup far outstrips production capacity and Crofts thinks the situation isn't likely to change in the foreseeable future.

Biggest problem facing producers today is a shortage of equipment, Crofts says. Quebec produces 65 percent of all the syrup made in Canada, and Rene Levesque, in a move to boost the industry, has offered subsidies of 75 cents to producers for each new tap brought into production. The move has sent producers into an expansion spree, and equipment is being bought up as fast as it can be produced.

Most of what Crofts produces is sold to conservation areas, and the demand is greater than the supply. He also ships commercial grade syrup in barrels to be used for flavouring, and last year, during the winter months, he turned out more than two tons of maple sugar, which also finds its way to conservation areas for sale.

But with an estimated $50,000 invested in equipment, you don't get rich producing maple syrup. Crofts supplements his income by boarding horses and raising cattle, among other things.

And how much does a gallon of syrup produced by Wally Crofts cost? This year, the same as last year, it's $18 a gallon, but some producers are already charging $20.

With prices like that, maple syrup is almost an investment, but there is no shortage of people willing to pay the price for the delicately flavoured product.

And how do you protect that gallon of syrup you splurged on this year? Keep it in the freezer, Crofts says. It will still pour because it's too sweet to freeze, and it will keep indefinitely.

Who we deserve

The long wait is over. After more than a year of tracing the fickle meanderings of public opinion through monthly Gallup polls, the federal government has called an election. The future of the country has been left in the hands of the voters, who will be asked to choose among the three major parties to select the direction in which the nation will move.

Ultimately, the choice will have to be made among at least three candidates in each of more than 280 ridings across the country. And in each of those ridings, voters will be called on to judge the candidates and the parties they represent. It is a responsibility that deserves to be understood.

What we must look for in candidates is a clear grasp of the issues. What we should expect to hear in political speeches is no mere damning of another party's policies, but the presentation of realistic and constructive alternatives.

Too often, voters are swayed by the empty rhetoric of professional politicians or the down to earth simplicity of candidates whose intellect and ability poses no threat to the ordinary man.

In choosing a candidate to vote for, we must ask ourselves what we want in an elected representative, and what we should expect that individual to accomplish for us. If we expect miracles, and if we are promised them, we should be extremely wary. No politician can provide jobs and security at the drop of a hat, and no party has all the answers.

But there are things that can be done to improve the lot of people in Haliburton County and other economically depressed areas of the country. They can come in the form of help for small business, incentives to light industry, and taxation concessions to strengthen the tourist trade.

We should demand to know what a candidate and the party he or she represents can do and expects to do to help the people of this riding, and the people of the rest of Canada.

Too often, political speeches are an empty round of platitudes, promises and polished vagueries. Voters do themselves and the country a disservice if they fail to make an effort to see through the haze of words into economic and social reality.

We'll have weeks to listen to the campaigners. And that should be time enough for the shaping of informed opinions before the casting of a careful vote.

It is essential that we elect intelligent, informed and capable people if the government, no matter who heads it, is to be effective.

It's time to start thinking about who we deserve.

Starting anew

Now that the oppressive cold of winter has left us, and now that the blood is once more coursing to a quickened pace, the time has come to look ahead. Projects have been stalled and plans shelved under the weight of snow but many of them will soon be restarted. And if they are to be successfully completed, those projects will require the dedication and effort of scores of people.

Some, such as the pioneer museum in Haliburton, and the library museum complex in Minden, will require public contribution and support. Others, such as the participark in Minden, and the curling club, are to be club projects, with the money to complete them coming indirectly through club sponsored functions and fund-raising efforts.

Not all of the projects which are currently underway will be completed in the next year. But with unity of effort and clarity of purpose on the part of the majority of ratepayers, there is much that can be accomplished in the coming months.

Spring is a time to reassess priorities and rethink attitudes. It is a time when the organizers of projects should be thinking about how to get that project off the ground, or how to bring it to completion. And it is a time when ratepayers should decide which projects they feel deserve immediate and solid support, and which might need to be shelved until there is more money, or more manpower available.

Financial support is always helpful when any major project is underway, but there are other ways in which ratepayers can contribute to the betterment of the county. They can, for example, volunteer to work on projects where labour is required, and they can make their feelings about projects known to councils so that actions can be taken for the good of all.

If everyone works together, the rest of the year should see the realization of significant and lasting accomplishments.

Feir Play

— by —
Creighton Feir

I sometimes wonder if we are doing everything we can to help our young people in the county to become better citizens in the future. I have to wonder if we really are. We all seem to do a lot of talking about our young people in our society today but are we really doing anything to help them along? Some people will raise the question that there are plenty of things going on in the community to keep the young people occupied while others will argue that we haven't anything for the young people to do. Others will say, "let them look after themselves and make their own fun." The question remains what is right and what is wrong? One of the questions we have to ask ourselves is if we provide youth centres in various communities in the county, will the young people take advantage of these facilities?

Defenceman Ron Stackhouse scored three goals, all on power plays, for the first time in his career to carry the Pittsburgh Penguins past the New York Rangers and gave Pittsburgh a two-point edge on third place Los Angeles in the Norris Division. The game was played in Madison Square Gardens in New York on Sunday, March 18. Ron got two goals in the second period and one in the third. It's really something for a defenceman to get the hat trick. It looks like Pittsburgh will be in the play-offs and we wish Ron the best of luck from here on in.

John Perry from the Ministry of Treasury, Economics and Intergovernmental Affairs was a recent guest speaker at the Rotary Club of Haliburton. Mr. Perry, our representative for Economic Development gave a talk on his study in this area. He indicated that although tourism and forestry were our main industries, there were other areas with possibilities of expansion, but that there is no one immediate answer to economic problems. Input from residents will be included with his ideas in a report to the Minister and will then be reviewed by county council for possible recommendations, he said. The report is in its final stages and should be presented in the very near future. Two questions arose from the question and answer period. One concerned the future of mining of the area and the other was the possibility of bringing in clean light industry, something on the woodworking line. We will all be looking forward with anticipation to what this report will tell us. It's something that should be of interest to all of us here in Haliburton County.

Last Thursday at about 8 a.m. Mrs. Phurness Watt who lives on Pine Street in Haliburton, noticed a very large mink strolling along behind her husband's car which was parked near their home. It crossed the road this side of Bank's store and the last she saw of the mink it was down near Bob Brohm's garage heading down toward Emmerson Lumber Limited. It's very unusual to see a mink visiting the village so early in the year.

According to Gord Woolsey, chairman of the Rotary Club of Haliburton Easter Seal Campaign, just a little better than 25 percent of the Easter Seal objective has been reached. Please send in your contributions as soon as possible. Please use the pink return envelopes you received in the mail to send in your donations. All money received will go toward the work with crippled children.

The month of March is drawing to a close. We are told that this is one of the most depressing months of the year and in other words March is always a gloomy month. People are tired of the cold and the snow but when you think back, the month of March in 1979 has provided us with some warm days and sunny skies. We can now look forward to those April showers when they come our way.

Last week with the March break it was hard to find very many people left in the area. They all took advantage of this break to take a vacation. It was also encouraging to see so many visitors back for the holidays in the highlands. Many people went to the sunny south but this year we were quite surprised to learn that a large number spent the March break in Toronto.

I just received word this morning that Blake Emmons and his Whiskey River Band will be in Haliburton on Saturday evening, May 19, for a stage show and dance at the Haliburton arena. The evening is being sponsored by the Kinsmen and Kinnettes Clubs of Haliburton. More details on this later.

We were sorry to learn that Hans Pripp of Haliburton suffered a heart attack recently and had to be taken to the Red Cross hospital in Haliburton. We wish Hans a speedy recovery and he is certainly being missed at Elstone Motor Sales Limited where his pleasant personality always made him a big hit with the customers who did business at the garage.

Len Phillips, a former resident of Haliburton who now resides in Don Mills, was in our office the other day on business and I was really glad to have a chat with him. When he lived in Haliburton, Len took a big part in the youth centre when the organization met in the old town hall and had over 160 members. I can always remember helping him to put on some musical nights at the youth centre and he played the saxophone in a pick-up band from people in the village. While on the subject of youth centres, wouldn't it be a grand idea to get one going again?

It won't be too much longer before the Stanley Cup play-offs are underway. This is the time that hockey fans make sure that their television is in good working order and some people who never watch hockey all year always make it a point to watch the Stanley Cup when the chips are down and when everyone knows that each and every player is going all out in every game. I don't know about you but as far as I am concerned, I will be cheering for the New York Islanders. They have been knocking at the door for the past two or three years and this year they should have the talent to take it all.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I would like to take a moment to congratulate you on your editorial in the March 7th issue regarding the problems facing our area, as a result of "acid rain".

I appreciated the common sense approach of your discussion which will I believe serve to not only clarify the issue but also down play any of the panic which can often result from misunderstandings. Your sensible approach certainly indicates that a complex problem demands hard decisions and firm action. You can be assured that I share your concern and I can report that recently I contacted the Federal Minister of the Environment to ask just what his agency was planning regarding this whole problem. No doubt in the weeks and months ahead we will be hearing many more reports and figures regarding the acid rain situation. It is my feeling that the tone of your editorial certainly has helped to present a clear understanding of the issues.

Sincerely yours,
William C. Scott, M.P.

To the Editor and the Ratepayers of Stanhope:

It is with great concern and interest in our municipality that I am writing this letter to express concern about the present emotions of ratepayers and about the future of our, so far, progressive municipality.

Over the past several years, Stanhope has made achievements at a rate far greater than ever before. These have been accomplished by the progressive thinking of councils and through a dedicated clerk. Of these achievements, some have been of a permanent nature and others, such as Canada Works programs, if managed properly, have brought lasting benefits to our municipality.

I am sure you will agree that behind every successful municipality there is a successful clerk. Stanhope is no exception.

Past members of council are the first to mention that without Mr. Bain's dedication to Stanhope, council could not have achieved what they have in the past.

In short, Gerald Bain has more interest in Stanhope than possibly some councillors.

It is debatable as to whether Mr. Bain had any right to state his so-called ultimatum. But it would be hard for any man who has spent years dedicated to the advancement of our municipality to just sit back and watch people destroy the harmonious community that Stanhope once had. In his position, seeing the rift widening in a community you had strived to help, what would you do?

It's fine to pass judgement and spout that had you been on council you would have fired the man on the spot. But if you were on council would you have let the situation develop to the point that the clerk would threaten to resign to save our community from ultimate destruction at the hands of one council. I should hope you wouldn't let it go to that extent.

There are many more people in Stanhope like Mr. Bain who are concerned with the future well-being of our community. It is with these people that the futures lies.

Editor's Notebook

by
Len Pizzev

Well, the long awaited call to go to the polls has finally come. If nothing else, the dissolution of parliament provided welcome relief for a public fed-up with opinion polls and speculation about who was one point ahead of who in the race to gain the public's favour.

Spring, of course, is the best time to call an election. The windiness of empty political speeches should blend in nicely with that other kind of breeze that annually desiccates a winter weary land.

Don't misunderstand. I'm a staunch supporter of the democratic system, and I think exercising one's franchise is an important responsibility, as well as a cherished right. It's just that I'm not looking forward to the name calling and the condemnation that always accompanies the process of political point scoring. The truth, as far as I can see, is that there's really very little difference between one party and another, if you discount the tempered socialism of the NDP. I really don't think anyone has the answers to inflation and unemployment. The best we can hope for is that the party that gains power won't put us any farther along the road to ruin than most people feel we've already been driven.

And the best I can hope for is that the speeches I'll have to cover in the coming weeks will contain some substance. There's nothing harder than coming away from a political rally feeling the candidate has really said nothing, and yet having to write a story about it and remain impartial. You can try, as I always do, to make it clear when statements are vacuous and promises empty, but you always risk raising the ire of those who vote for the party, as they've always done, no matter who it is who mouths that party's platform.

It would be nice if this election turns out to be different; if it's built on real issues, and if we have a legitimate choice. But just one day into the campaign, I'm forced to admit that I'm not very hopeful.

At one time skating carnivals were a big thing that drew hundreds of people to the old Haliburton arena. Away back then the Haliburton Citizens Band would supply the music for the skaters from their bandstand which was located on the second floor over the entrance. The above photo was taken following the 1939 skating carnival. Miss Church, who is shown in the picture, directed this group of young people who put a skating drill as part

Report from Queens Park

by MPP John Eakins

This week I would like to return to the subject of acid rain precipitation. Evidence as to its cause has been gathered in Ontario for more than 15 years, and at first it seemed that scientists were detecting minor, localized problems. It has only been over the past year or so that the evidence has started to fit together to give us our first genuine understanding of the real scope of the issue.

It has now been established that the cause of acid rain precipitation is millions of tons of sulphur and nitrogen oxides discharged from combustion and other sources into the air, where they are oxidized to various sulphates and nitrates. They dissolve in rain and snow and precipitation becomes acidic. In terms of our immediate environment, this translates into about 15 million tons of sulphur and nitrogen oxides discharged from combustion and other sources into the air, where they are oxidized to various sulphates and nitrates. They dissolve in rain and snow and precipitation becomes acidic. In terms of our immediate environment, this translates into about 15 million tons of sulphur dioxide every year from sources in the Northeastern U.S. and 2 million tons from Ontario sources. And 24 million tons of nitrogen oxides in the U.S., besides 660,000 tons from Ontario.

The effect on us in Ontario is at least 140 lakes today which are known to be in trouble. Lakes which have shifted from an alkaline to an acidic balance and which are increasingly unable to support a sports fish population. The effect still to come is a further 48,000 lakes which will go the same way over the next two decades unless something is done on an international scale.

One of the problems we face in Ontario is that if we eliminated every local source of sulphur and nitrogen oxides, it would have virtually no impact on the continuing damage to our lakes. We produce less than 3 million tons in Ontario as compared to a total of 39 million tons in the Northeastern U.S. As things stand now, we can expect more use of fossil fuels, especially coal and oil, and therefore more potential production of sulphur and nitrogen oxides, the gases from this combustion. They cause the acidic precipitation problem.

Continuing investigation is our most urgent and pressing need. Accelerated study of recent years has given an increasingly clear picture of the scope and nature of the problem, but more concrete facts are needed. We need to know, for instance, both here and in the U.S., just what degree of abatement is required; which sources must be controlled and by how much.

It has become increasingly apparent that we are facing severe consequences from the pattern and nature of the industrialized lifestyle which has developed on this continent. In view of this, I believe that over the long term we must direct our efforts into two areas - the technological approach to environment solutions and the conservator approach, and achieve a balance. Initially, of course, some neutralization program will be required to protect our lakes which are threatened immediately, and treatment is essential for the lakes already affected.

To the Editor:

We would like to thank a reader of the Echo for a special donation. Mr. John Drone of Toronto read in the Echo about our forthcoming Flea Market and had shipped to the West Guilford Recreation Centre, 600 lbs. of goods. All the items are new and were shipped pre-paid at no expense to the centre.

We are absolutely overwhelmed that Mr. Drone chose the centre for this donation. We have always been fortunate to have community minded citizens in West Guilford who willingly give of their time and money for the centre. We thought you and your readers would appreciate hearing of our good fortune since good deeds are rarely front page news.

We look forward to meeting Mr. Drone and thanking him personally and would like him to know that the money we expect to derive from the sale of these goods should bring us very close to our building fund goal.

Sincerely,
The Committee,
West Guilford Recreation Centre

To the Editor:

I wish to extend my gratitude to yourself and Dave Robb for your support in our bid to protect the last remaining heritage building in Kinmount Village.

The people of the community will be ever grateful for the continued interest of both yourself and your paper in this worthwhile project.

Even though we still have some hurdles left, I am sure that the project now has much needed credibility.

Regards and thanks,
David H. Longford,
Kinmount, Ontario

To the Editor:

The Bracebridge Herald-Gazette (Echo, March 21) placed emphasis on a change of leadership in Canada from Mr. Trudeau to Mr. Clark as a cure for Canada's troubles. I believe that in concentrating upon the leadership we overlook the fact that to have successful leadership each of the major political parties must have, above all, capable people in Ottawa to become members of the government and members of the opposition parties.

Inflation and unemployment, which are two of our main concerns, are also the problems of every industrialized nation in the world. We will improve as the economy of all nations improves. The Quebec situation did not develop in the last few years, it is a culmination of years of frustration and discontent. It will take years of careful and thoughtful government to keep Canada together.

Of course, we need excellent leadership in these next years but if Canada is to take the lead in world recovery and if Canada is to stay as a complete nation, then we also need the best members of parliament from all over Canada to provide a leader with the brains, innovations and knowledge which he must face to be successful and which Canada must have to solve her problems.

As voters we must question our candidates. We want a strong, intelligent government and high quality opposition members. Every person elected to office must be capable of studying world affairs and have a clear picture of Canada's role in the world. We must think more of the quality of our representation and less of party affiliation.

If we decide, as the Bracebridge Herald-Gazette suggested, to have Mr. Clark as leader and accomplish this by choosing Progressive Conservative candidates regardless of their ability then we do Mr. Clark a disservice.

The Bracebridge article also stated "one tactic" (of the Liberal government) "will be to try in every way possible to discredit the Progressive Conservative opposition and its leader, Mr. Clark." I am sure this will happen and I am also sure that the Progressive Conservative opposition will try in every way possible to discredit the Liberal government and Mr. Trudeau. These are just tactics. They have always been a part of the election show and drama. They are the part of the campaign which we should overlook while we concentrate on the important part of this coming election which is the sending of brilliant people to Ottawa.

Eagle Lake, Ontario

Bill Smiley

Like most people in this country with any intelligence, I welcome the advent of spring, which in Canada consists mainly of mud, slush, cold rain and colder winds.

It is the end of that suicidal season in which we get more and more depressed, irritable, and bone-weary of living in a land where the national sound symbols are the wet snuffle and the barking cough, the national sight symbols are the filled-in driveway and the rusting fender.

It's a trying time. For years, I've advocated a mid-February holiday to save the national psyche from self-destruction. I've suggested calling it National Love Day, the third Monday in February: a day to love your neighbour, your neighbour's wife, yourself, and life, not necessarily in that order.

But I've been blocked, year after year, by politicians, who fear the opponents might score a victory if it were named Sir John A. MacDonald Day or Sir Wilfrid Laurier Day; and by the industrialists and business community, who blanch with terror at the thought of paying their employees for one more non-productive day in the year. Hell, a third of their employees' days are nonproductive anyway. They may as well throw in a bonus.

Yes, I welcome spring, but there's one aspect of it that I very nearly loathe. That's when the first yellow sun begins to filter through those murky storm windows, which we dare not take off until mid-May.

It isn't the sun that bothers me. It's the Old Battleaxe. She throws away her survival kit, the cataracts are peeled from her eyes, and she starts driving me out of my skull.

"Bill Smiley, look at those drapes!" I look. They look fine to me. Same old ones we had in January. Green and gold, turned to a sort of gold with cigarette smoke and hot air from the ancient furnace, but perfectly serviceable drapes.

"Look at that rug. Filthy! Look at the chesterfield. The boys have ruined it: jam, bananas, yoghurt! Look at that woodwork. It was off-white in the fall, and now it's offblack! The wallpaper is disgusting!"

Well, I look up from my paper with every demand, and everything looks just the same to me as it did a month ago. Comfortable. Warm. Lived-in. I venture such an opinion. It is met with a torrent of abuse, self-pity, and materialistic avariciousness.

"You don't care, do you? You'd live in a pig-pen, wouldn't you? Other men help their wives keep the place decent, don't they? Have you no eyes in your head? Aren't you ashamed of this 'wreck' room that used to be our livingroom?"

Faced with a barrage of rhetorical questions, I shift uneasily and answer, "Yes," or, sometimes, "No." I never know what to say, but it's Frankly, I don't care. And yes, I would live in a pig-pen, if nothing else were available.

And no, other men don't help their wives keep the place decent. Not decent men. And yes, I have eyes in my head, two of them, one apt to be black after this column appears. And no, I'm not ashamed of our wreck room. I know who wrecked it, and I love them just the same. And if visitors don't like it, they can go and visit someone else, with a real rec' room. It is confusing, is it not?

However, I am an amenable chap. I don't kick a dog, just because he bays at the moon. I don't kick a woman, just because she begins raving when the March sun filters into the dugout where we've spent the winter.

I merely blink benignly, start talking supportively. Yes, we should have new drapes. How much? Yes, we should have a new chesterfield suite. How much? Yes, it's time we got rid of that old diningroom suite, which we bought second-hand for $100 20 years ago. How much for a new one? Certainly, the rugs need cleaning and the whole house redecorating. How much?

It always comes out to somewhere around $8,000. I remind that we have to borrow from the bank to pay the income tax. That we have two cars which we could sell in a package deal, to an experienced mechanic, for $400. That if we don't have some brickwork done, the whole house will fall down, and we'll be sitting there, in

Wardens attend breakfast

Haliburton County Warden Jim Harrison, was among scores of invited guests at the annual parliamentary prayer breakfast for national leaders from across Canada, March 1.

Harrison, along with Jack Coulson, Warden of Victoria County, were hosted by area M.P. Bill Scott.

The breakfast, an annual event, has been held for the past 15 years.

Wardens, Harrison and Coulson also attended an evening dinner meeting February 28 where they met various parliamentarians and other individuals involved in the prayer breakfast organization.

Speaker for the morning meeting was Jerome Choquette, Q.C., former Minister of Justice for the Province of Quebec.

Following the breakfast the two wardens joined other invited guests in a leadership seminar and discussion period.

Senator William Armstrong (Republican - Colorado) addressed the final session at noon on Thursday.

ONTARIO FOODLAND NEWS BULLETIN...

Read how buying 'Ontario' saves you food dollars

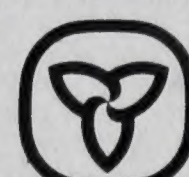

Ontario's good summer crops of vegetables and fruits are in the stores now. Many are fresh - cabbage, carrots, apples, potatoes, parsnips, rutabagas and more. Others are canned or frozen. But all of them bring you the good taste for which Ontario produce is famous. If you compare the prices of these Ontario foods with prices of imports, it's easy to see why Ontario fruits and vegetables are one of the good food bargains in your store.

And not only do you get good value when you buy Ontario products, you also help strengthen Ontario's economy.

Lakefield ends season for Huskies

Lakefield kept the pressure on the Huskies last Wednesday

Canadian angler of year named

The Garcia Canadian Angler of the Year (1978) is Michael MacDonald of East Lake, P.E.I. The 24-year-old fisherman bagged the biggest bluefin tuna ever caught anywhere!

The International Game Fish Association has recognized the 1,235-pound catch as the "All Tackle" world record.

MacDonald's 10-foot 9-inch prize came on the heels of an 1145-pounder he whiped earlier the same day!

Runners-up for the coveted honor are a west coast devotee and a pair of piscators from the prairies, including the first female nominee in the history of the award.

Wayne Stevenson of Kelowna, B.C. gets the nod for a gigantic 61½-pound chinook he hooked off Quandra Island and boated almost three hours later.

Saskatoon angler Walter Hrychuk is lauded for landing a behemoth 16-pound 9-ounce Piprell Lake rainbow with gossamer 6-pound monofilament.

And Katherine Ribarik of Estevan, Saskatchewan is honored for her achievement in hauling a 34½-pound leviathan lake trout from the depths of Hunter Bay.

The annual selection of the Garcia Canadian Angler of the Year is made by a nationwide panel of judges, each a foremost angling authority in his province or territory.

Time and scoring opportunities ran out for the Haliburton Huskies in Lakefield last Wednesday night.

Behind three games to one in their best of seven series against the Chiefs, the Huskies couldn't put an attack together until well into the third period, when the Chiefs let down their guard and the local players began to penetrate effectively.

The loss ended a solid season for the Huskies during which they earned a firm hold on second place, beating the first place Chiefs twice.

From the opening face-off last Wednesday night it was clear the game would belong to Lakefield. Playing before a packed arena of strongly partisan fans, the Chiefs skated and checked their way to an easy win.

Less than three minutes into the period, Haliburton's Dave Pettes and Steve Davies drew two minutes for charging and hooking, leaving the Huskies two men short. Despite the disadvantage however, the Huskies' defense withstood a barrage of shots from the point and close in, and kept the game scoreless.

Play evened out when the teams returned to full strength, and at 5:26 they traded penalties to go five aside for the next two minutes.

At 9:12 the referee sent Tim Oram off on the two minute elbowing call, but his stay in the box was short. At 9:14, from the face-off, the Chiefs slipped one past Craig Wood for the first tally of the game.

A little over two minutes later, Kevin O'Hara went to the box on a one sided elbowing call, and when he let the referee know he was less than pleased, O'Hara faced another two minutes for unsportsmanlike conduct.

The teams fell to five a side 30 seconds later when a Chiefs' player took a hooking call, but the Huskies could do nothing with the 30 second power play opportunity that came a minute and a half later.

At 14:24, on a goal mouth scramble, the Chiefs slipped in their second goal of the contest, to the noisy delight of the home town fans, who continued to urge their favorites take out as many Huskies players as they could. Fortunately, both teams stuck to hockey for most of the game, although there were a few cheap shots taken by both sides, several of which took place out of the referees limited line of vision.

Tim Oram took his second penalty of the period at 15:51 when he retaliated with a high stick for a cross check the referee didn't see. The Chiefs then poured on the power play, and on a slick passing play, moved out in front 3-0 at 16:12.

Lakefield took double penalties at 18:30 and for the last minute and a half, the Huskies mustered their first effective offence of the game. The Chiefs netminder was sharp however, and managed to stop every one of the shots the Huskies threw at him.

In the opening seconds of the second period, Larry Stinson arrived to beef up the Huskies' defence, but the local team continued to be hampered by a lack of solid offense.

Lakefield found themselves short-handed twice in the opening minutes of the period, but the Huskies' power play continued to be ineffective.

Back at full strength, the Chiefs stole the puck in the Haliburton end, eluded one defenseman and slipped the puck past Wood to make it 4-0. That goal came at 5:22.

For the first time in the game, Haliburton's passing plays were getting as far as the opposition blue line when a Haliburton defenseman stood and watched a Lakefield player get free in front of the Haliburton net. The result was another Chiefs marker, this one at 7:43.

Less than two minutes later, at 9:15, Lakefield connected again to move into a commanding 6-0 lead.

At 10:32 the Huskies again had the power play as a Lakefield player headed for the box to serve a two minute elbowing call.

The only excitement during the power play, however, was a solid body check that caught Tim Oram with his head down and sent him sprawling, to the noisy approval of Lakefield fans.

Only other excitement in the period was a spearing call against Tim Oram that was enhanced in the referee's eyes by a well executed Lakefield dive. The Academy Award performance by the Lakefield player sent Oram off for the season, and deprived the Lakefield fans of their favourite target for verbal abuse.

Lakefield took a number of penalties as the clock wound down on the second period, but there was little the Huskies could do about it, as their power play refused to click.

The third period opened with a number of end to end rushes and a continual parade to the penalty box as the referees tried to keep the game under control.

At 6:52, Joe Roberts got caught with a roughing call that quickly turned into a game misconduct. Roberts took it in his stride however, and held up the game long enough to shake hands with the Lakefield players on his way to the dressing room for the final time this season.

With the game in hand, the Chiefs relaxed their defence, and the Huskies managed to take advantage of it. Steve Farnsworth ruined the possibility of a Chiefs shutout with a goal at 7:07, assisted by Barry Shaw and Tim Bain.

At 8:10 it was Dave Levely finding the mark, assisted by Farnsworth.

At 9:01, Steve Davies squared off with a Lakefield player for the only fight of the game. When the referees managed to pry the two apart, the Lakefield player went after the referee, and got a shove before thinking better of it. Both players were ejected from the game.

The action was less than thrilling for the rest of the game, as Haliburton seemed to admit that the season was over, and as Lakefield had little wish to increase an already insurmountable lead.

Final goal of the game went to the Huskies at 18:47, as Larry Stinson connected from Tim Bain.

The 7-3 loss ended the season for the Huskies.

Minden senior curlers end season with annual banquet

The Minden senior curlers concluded another successful season with their annual banquet held at the Curling Club with 28 out of 34 present.

Winners of the first series were Cec. Yearwood, Stan Blears, John Harrison and Ed Gooderham.

Second series winners were Art Hodgkinson as skip, with Ed Pettinger, Cec Yearwood and Bill Donnelly.

Play-off champs were Sandy Stewart, Lorne Coburn, George Davidson and Herb Gill.

This week the Minden seniors will be sending two teams along with one from Haliburton to compete with other senior teams from Fenelon Falls and Bobcaygeon at the Fenelon Falls Curling Club.

Along the Trails by Roy Bates

A couple of weeks ago I mentioned here the often-proposed but seldom-carried-out plan of tackling new trail research during the period when late winter crust makes woods travel so much easier. For a number of years a good crust simply did not develop, or if it came it lasted so short a time that not much could be accomplished. This year, for a change, we've been blessed with an excellent crust, strong enough to carry up well even on foot, and it has lasted for several weeks.

Believing that one should practice what he preaches, I have been out on several occasions looking up practical route changes in my immediate riding area. One of these is an off-road alternative for the connection between Trail #9 (the Tractor Road) and Trail #14 (Hunter's Horn Trail). The next step is to secure an agreement with the landowner. Hopefully next year the new trail will take snowmobilers off the street in Donald and off a three-quarter mile section of the Koshlong Lake Road. Estimated cutting time required: 10 to 15 man hours.

Other excursions were made to the beaver pond areas along the Gelert Trail. A new route has been selected around one particularly troublesome pond and a preliminary study was made at two others. The first site is relatively easy to reach in summer and cutting will be minimal. The others may have to wait for another winter.

I would be pleased to hear from anyone who has taken advantage of this year's crust to research trail improvement in other parts of the county. Or if, later in the spring, your tramp through the woods turns up another off-road trail location, let us hear about it. It could be the club's next work project.

Wayne Wilkin, trails co-ordinator for the Hanover Snowmobile Club Inc., sums up the whole trail idea very nicely in his club's latest newsletter.

"Snowmobile trails serve one basic purpose - a safe recreation. Scenery, open play areas, access to lakes, routes between towns, taverns, restaurants are recreational goals the trail idea serves. Trails keep the snowmobiler off the roads and highways - thus providing a safe and enjoyable pathway into winter."

Extendicare News

by Dr. W. O. Anderson

At the outset we approached the nurse at the desk for any news we may use and she in response said this yarn. "A young Ottawa 'politician' was overheard asking his lady love for a dinner date and her reply was 'I will be pleased to accept but you must promise you will not eat with your fingers.'"

Tuesday's bingo has now settled into solid bingo with not too many items of interest that make news.

It was discovered in the morning, that sometime in the blizzards of winter just past, one of the snow clearing vehicles caught one corner of our shed ripping away the corner mould. Giving it top priority we got onto it right away and put on a new corner piece at minimal cost. After it is stained like the rest it will not be noticed. Norman Titus did it.

We also note in one of our front flower beds, either a pair of tulips or daffodils are coming through where the ground is bare, and where it will get a substantial amount of heat from the sun. Thus is a start made in our summer bloom. Of course they are not in flower yet.

In the last few days navigating the elaborate data of our income taxes we decided to ask the government fiscal powers, not to fritter away the taxes we pay as though it were chaff. There is nothing cute to government indifference in these matters and we can only hope they are trustworthy.

On Wednesday the 21st, we finally arrived at spring when the sun crosses the

full view, on our new chesterfield.

I suggest that she save money from teaching her piano pupils, pay back the $1,000 she has spent on long distance phone calls to her relatives, and take a job as a cleaning lady for a year, and all will be doozy. New everything.

She counters with arrows about the booze bill, the cigarettes account, and all the money I gamble away on lotteries.

I remind her gently that if she hadn't spent a cool thousand on gold chains last summer in Switzerland, we'd be in clover. And so it goes.

After a week or two of this, we have arrived at an impasse. The sun keeps shining, something important, like the children, crops up, and we sail happily into a new year, with the wreck room in tact: warm, comfortable, lived-in. Doesn't cost a nickel. And you know something? Nobody cares.

equator to bestow its warmth on this side for the next half year or until next December 22 when our shortest day occurs. Now our days and nights are equal, but the days will continue to lengthen until the summer solstice, June 21. Were it not for the refrigerator effect of the colossal accumulation of snow and ice of our polar cap in winter, we would begin to have hot weather even now, and excessively hot at the peak of summer.

We are planning just as gorgeous a display of flowers this summer as last, with pansies, zinnias, marigolds, balsams and impatiens in the patio boxes, using white alyssum as an overall colour contrast over the rest of the property. It seems to be a tall order but there is really comparatively little work.

Thursday we were given a very nice big jade or rubber plant that at once needed repotting and a bit of bracing, a detail that was quickly done. It is nice for us to keep enlarging our current list of interesting plants. Many of our outdoor flowering plants are seeded and transplanted, and we think not a bit too early such as petunias, pansies, marigolds, browallia, balsam, mignonette (nicely scented), zinnias and that beautiful white alyssum. That is a goodly list but really comprises only a few of what there is and to change a timely subject the staff and a resident swept the sand from the frontage here and much of the parking lot. So spring is looking up.

Friday morning devotional period was conducted by Capt. Doug Burry of the Haliburton Salvation Army, with his inseparable accordion, and assisted by his good Christian friend, Leslie Roberts and his guitar with which he gave some sacred solos and with Capt. Burry, duets. The theme was "Faith" in God or Jesus on which reliance can be placed throughout our lives, much as Einstein had faith in his theory which seemingly had no beginning and likewise have no end. It would therefore seem that the two faiths are synonymous. Our after service chat over tea or coffee and date cookies was very enjoyable.

In the afternoon were movies. 1. "A portrait of Louise Tandy", a sketch of an elderly lady in her eighties showing her remarkable ability to cope with the problems of living alone, but showing her many admirers in doing this. men, women and children. Much emotion dominated yet the dictionary does not list the word "Emote". To illustrate we may say a bank president emotes more profitably than men in occupations of lesser fulfillment. All of us all the time are continually emoting if we are conscious. 2. The oysterman, captain of a coming and lucrative industry in Canada, but what a wait. From its beginning to a mature oyster takes five years, but even that is quite profitable. This film did not show hardship, but it did show much drudgery. All the bulbs we planted last fall have been a treat for all of us with a sprout showing in front of each resident's window. When they come into bloom the excitement will be something. We thought we had mentioned this bulb venture enough but one party informed us they did not know they were there and nearly stepped on one of those tender sprouts. It is incredible the amount of activity that goes on in the soil under the snow in winter. Another example we have mentioned before is the integration of surface vegetation debris if it is heeled in reasonably soon after it accumulates. Not a trace of the debris is there in the spring. We are indebted to Mrs. Eileen Morrison, one of our volunteer helpers, who gave us a nice string of pearls begonia, a miniature strawberry. We had no place for it among our other plants because it is so delicate, but there was an ideal place in Dr. Anderson's room on top of a three foot mast of a 2 1/2" diameter roll of hardware cloth he uses to string a philodendron. There it is in a tiny green pot with its string of pearls and in a position of dominance. As soon as we can we will eliminate the privacy of its cuteness by finding some niche in the common rooms. Steven Tripp, our Toronto Star paper boy, was quite intrigued by the philodendron, string of pearls mast, and related it to projects they do at school. Sunday afternoon, Cap. Doug Burry, his accordion, Leslie Roberts, and his guitar, and officers of the Salvation Army, Mrs. Amelia Sibby, Cadet, Shelly Carey of the Toronto S.A. training school, Mrs. Lillian Hague and Miss Anne Edwards, all in various ways, gave an interval of sacred music with singing.

Senior League

Congratulations to Irene Burns, Violet Younge and Pearl Bowron who celebrated birthdays this week.

Monday morning we sure got warmed up at our physical fitness program as it was warm in here as well as sunny warm outside. In the afternoon we were busy making more craft items for a bazaar later on in July. Movies in the evening were entitled "Australia Now" and "Nature's Window". They were very interesting.

Tuesday morning devotion was led by Rev. Douglas Miller from Minden United Church, and our organist was Mrs. Cummings from Lutterworth Pines. It was a lovely service. In the afternoon it was such a lovely day we took a little bus ride to Dorset, right down into the town. We noticed that the old hotel there has been remodelled; it sure looks nice now.

Wednesday was a regular day with fun and fitness in the morning and crafts in the afternoon with Ellen Holden volunteering a helping hand.

Thursday's afternoon tea party was served by the Maple Lake A.C.W. They brought in lovely tea biscuits

Chatting with Irene

by Irene Moore

One can hardly believe that this is the last week in March; as they say on T.V. it has been more like May weather. My only hope is that it stays nice all this week. Of course next Sunday anything can happen, sending it is April Fools Day. By then I will be in Victoria, B.C. seeing the flowers and green grass and also enjoying a visit with family and friends. As I have never been west of Ontario, I sure hope that it will live up to all that folks have told me. Anyway I am going to keep a diary of the trip and will tell you about the best parts when I'm home again. You see our son is in Victoria, so when the airways put on a cheap rate, I took advantage of it. Don't get me wrong, I am not a Scot, but if I didn't go now, I might never get to see the other side of Canada. I will try to keep my column open, but if not allowed to, will be back on the chatting after Easter.

Mrs. John Perk and several of the family have spent the March break with her sister in Brampton.

Rumour has it that Len Pryor of Haliburton is re-opening the Cameo Restaurant as a take-out for pizza and submarines, etc. I hope it is true for one hates to see a place on main street closed.

Mrs. Ray Rivers and sons spent part of the March break with Mrs. Arnold Coulter.

The Women's Institute have had confirmation for their bus trip, May 30. They will leave Minden at 7 a.m., proceed to the Erland Lee Home, at Stony Creek, then have lunch at Eastgate Mall, before heading for Wentworth Pioneer Village at Rockton, after which they will visit the African Lion Safari at Rockton. On the way home there will be a supper stop in Hamilton, arriving back in Minden approximately 10 p.m. The fare for this trip is $10; but you will pay for your own food, entrance into Wentworth Pioneer Village and African Lion Safari. For more information, or reservations contact Mrs. A. S. Kernahan 286-1648.

Book early for many have expressed the wish to take this trip.

Mr. Glenn Stamp and Glenda of Oshawa spent part of the March break with friends in Minden.

The librarians in some parts of the county are having "Forgiveness Week", April 9-14, so if you have any library books to be returned, drop them in then and save yourself a fine. The books are worth too much to lose.

Ruth and Gord Kellett spent the weekend in Bramalea with the Brock Kelletts.

The Harold Coulters and the Phil Corbys spent last week touring through Northern Ontario.

The Minden Figure Skating Club are presenting "Close Encounters" at the arena on Sunday, April 1 at 2 p.m. Be sure and support the skating club, as they have worked hard all this year, and you will enjoy their finale.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan plan on leaving this week for a holiday in Florida.

Have you taken a good look at the new senior citizens apartments lately? They look better each time one sees them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Carrell spent several days in Windsor last week.

The meeting of interested citizens regarding the Library-Museum complex will be held at the Municipal building next Monday, April 2 at 8 p.m. These meetings are open to all, so it is hoped there will be a good attendance.

During the summer there is to be story time at Minden library. Would interested parents of pre-schoolers please contact the librarian, suggesting a suitable morning for this, so that the student in charge will know? 286-2491 is the library number.

Our young folk were all over the continent last week; Tim Davies, Ted Brandon, Scott Valentine, Jeanne Kellett, Karen Snell, and Sarah Walker will be home later this week from Mexico.

Winners at the mini card party last week were: bridge - Daisy Bates; cribbage - Diane Stevens, Vera Ward; euchre, lone hand - Pearl Cowan, Della Griffin, Johann Beattie.

Maple Syrup and information day is being held at the Leslie Frost Natural Resources Centre at Dorset on Saturday, April 7; starting at 9:30 a.m. Registration cards are available at business places in town, so be sure to pick one up.

Last Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brydson and Lesley of Bracebridge visited with the Earl Birds and the Bill Moores.

Are you interested in the Ladies Soft Ball League? If so there is a meeting at the public school auditorium on Tuesday, April 3, at 7 p.m. Gerald Coulter of Toronto spent the weekend with his parents.

The Ted Johnsons and Randy of Scarborough spent last week with Mrs. Mae Wright.

Visitors with the Milt Sears last Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Reg Leaman and family of River Drive Park.

The regular meeting of the Minden and District Horticultural Society will be held at the Minden Municipal Building on Tuesday evening April 3. Time - 7:30 p.m. There will be a representative from Green Cross Products, who will speak, answer questions, and show a film. Everyone is invited to attend. And by the way have you joined for this year? If you have, bring a friend and have them bring a friend, and so on and so on.

Sam and Marg Kinnear of Crystal Beach visited with Joyce Hewitt last week.

Guests with the Gary Browns last week were Lynne and Ted Martin and family of Campbellford, also Pat and Doug Moore and family of Udonia.

The winners at the card party held at St. Paul's Parish Hall last week were: door prize - Stan Blears; bridge - Mr. and Mrs. Jim Grant; cribbage - Joyce Hewitt, Ethel Leigh; euchre, lone hand - Bob Vick, Chris Dollo, Alice Clark, Gord Kellett, Stan Blears.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Brownridge of Scarborough visited with Mrs. Ethel Harrison and the Bill Moores on the weekend.

Mr. Vinton Loucks had his daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Kylie, granddaughter Karisten, also a friend Don McKay, all of the Algoma District visiting with last week for a few days.

Don't forget the Minor Hockey dance on Saturday, April 7. That is when the microwave oven will be drawn for. Dance to D.J. music and enjoy a good lunch.

Just the ladies have birthdays at Hyland Crest Home in April. They are Zilpah Hie 6th; Sophia Sanderson 8th; Ann Fountain 21st; Margaret Austin 27th.

For you folks in far away places. I thought you might like to know that Angus and Lydia Coulter will be celebrating their 60th wedding anniversary on April 23.

Adios and take care now.

Maple Lake News

by Elaine Barjarow

Carrie and Percy Drysdale of Minden spent the week of the school break at Bithynia Farm where they have been trying to clear up the debris of the big barn that went in because of heavy snow this winter.

Cecil and Betty Morrison and the two younger boys spent a few days with Carrie and Percy, and while there Cecil and Perry cut some much needed winter wood while the two young boys tapped four trees and made one pint of syrup with what ran in that one day.

Also visiting Carrie and Percy was Mrs. Dorothy Turke and Jeff from Curtiss, Ontario.

Cecil and Betty also spent a while at Redstone with Dorothy and Jeff.

Ken and June Bannon and Sheila and Ken Beatty returned on Tuesday from their long vacation in Florida and reported that they certainly enjoyed the warm weather and scenery.

Perry and Kay Morrison's children, Nora, Gerald and Jean are spending three days with their grandparents Percy and Carrie Drysdale. Bob Meredith and his two boys Michael and Robert, and a friend of the boys of Toronto spent from Wednesday 'til Sunday at their summer home in Maple Lake.

While talking to Noel Griffin, he told us of how much he and his wife, Theo enjoyed their trip through Texas and down to Mexico where they visited with Noel's brother, Wayne who lives in Mexico.

Wendy and Jim Fielding spent the weekend with Winnie Fader and Neilson and Sheila Griffin.

Friends of Charlie Fader will be sorry to hear that after spending a couple of days at home he had to be returned to the hospital.

Kathy Castle and her two girls Keri and Tanya spent a week with her parents Frank and Elaine Barjarow. Her husband, Larry and his brother Robert then came up for a couple of days.

Chuck and Pat Winslade and girls Lisa, Amy and Becky of Brampton spent the weekend with Harold and Martha Harding and visited with Rick and Shannon Harding.

"Nature didn't make us perfect, so she did the next best thing. She made us blind to our faults."

We welcome home some of our residents who have been sojourning in Florida. John and Maida Stewart enjoyed a holiday in Ft. Lauderdale and some points on the Gulf coast.

Clare and Sylvia Hooey made Clearwater their headquarters and travelled in various directions from there.

Barbara Berry (nee Keown) of St. Catharines spent last week visiting her parents, Chuck and Doris Keown.

Ms. Tyler, the nurse from the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit (what a long title) acquainted me with the fact that there will be an adult immunization clinic at the Dorset Public School for all area residents from 2:00 to 7:30 p.m. on April 5, May 2 and June 7. Immunization is important as Polio outbreaks still occur.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tappin, Graham's parents, are taking a trip to their home land. They are leaving in the near future for two months in England where they will visit relatives and renew old acquaintances. We wish them a safe and pleasant journey.

There is an art course beginning on Thursday, March 29 at the Rideout Community Centre at 1 p.m. Don Little will be the artist instructing.

Irene and Jack Clayton's stay in Florida was made more pleasant by having their sons with them part of the time. John flew in from Denver for a few days and Phillip and Wendy and their two boys drove down from Huntsville to be there with their parents. They also visited Della McGuire, who is wintering near St. Petersburg and also saw the Snyders from Shoe Lake, who are spending the winter in Florida.

Last week was ideal weather for the sap gatherers and those involved in the process were busy collecting that watery looking liquid that when boiled down produces the rich, tasty maple syrup that we all enjoy so much. The poor weather on the weekend slowed things down but hopefully, by the time this is published, we will be having sunny days and the sap will be running again.

For some reason the news doesn't always get to the newspaper office in time for publication and for this I apologize although it is not my fault. The news is posted each Saturday in time to leave Dorset at 12 noon, but occasionally something happens and the office doesn't receive it until Wednesday or Thursday. Just an explanation.

Norland Notebook

by
Barbara Maunder

About 250 ladies attended the 16th annual meeting of the Lindsay Presbyterial U.C.W. at Queen Street United Church on Thursday, March 15. After registration, worship, offering, in memoriam service, minutes and finance reports, the president of the Bay of Quinte conference U.C.W., Mrs. Evelyn Redpath spoke briefly to the group. Rev. Dorsch then installed the newly elected officers of Lindsay Presbyterial followed by a salad lunch served by the ladies of Queen Street United Church. After luncheon the children's choir from Leslie Frost School directed by Kenneth McCaughen sang several numbers which were enjoyed by all. Moderator, Mrs. Helen Ruth then introduced the panel, Rev. Harold Wilson, Mr. David Parrott and Mr. J. Richard Gorwill who expressed their opinions pertaining to the title of the panel "The Rights of the Child".

Rev. Wilson spoke on the Christian education of the child, Mr. Parrott on school education and Mr. Gorwill on the legal rights of the child. A lively question and answer period followed with all agreeing that it was a most thought provoking session. Don't forget to get your tickets for the dance sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary, and being held in Norland Community Hall on Saturday, March 31 from 9:00 p.m. to 1:00 a.m. Come and dance to the good music of Gary Peters and his Wildwood group. Bar will be licensed by L.L.B.O. and dance tickets are $8.00 a couple and include lunch. Advance tickets may be purchased from Jean Boyce - 454-8017.

The new bulletin board has been erected in the township office north window and notices may be posted on it. Any "for sale" signs must be dated and after a month will be removed. For sometime now, local people and cottagers have been asking for a current events notice board so if you have an activity that you want advertised, make up a colourful, attractive poster and tack it on the bulletin board for all to see.

Once again Shirley LeCraw had the right number of seconds for the last goal scored in Saturday, March 17's hockey game and won the prize for a second time in Norland firefighter's hockey pool this season.

The Brownies and Guides are working hard getting ready for their tea and bake sale on Saturday, April 7 in Norland Community Hall from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Admission charge for adults is .75 cents and children .50 cents. Plan to attend and support the work of these young ladies and their leaders.

It was interesting and informative to hear C.H.A.Y.'s Bruce Smith interview Jim Hickey of Coboconk's Vicky Company over this F.M. station on Wednesday, March 21. During the conversations, Mr. Hickey spoke on how the plant was built on a former sawmill site and told of the kinds of plywood being produced by the 50 employees.

The Second Venture recycling and handcraft group which was meeting every second Wednesday in the community hall has concluded its sessions until further interest - probably next fall.

Last Monday, unknown person or persons took two newly born puppies and left them to die at the township waste disposal site. Fortunately for the tiny creatures, Clarence Potter's daughter happened along to dump garbage and found them lying there. She and Jean Boyce each took a pup and using an eye dropper and later babies' bottles were able to save these two helpless orphans. There is a fine for this kind of cruelty to animals and whoever did it, should be ashamed of themselves.

Norland bowling team standings for Game 7, Series 3: B. Maunder - 34 pts., L. McLean - 33 pts., B. Davey - 31 pts., L. Jewell - 24 pts., K. Watson - 21 pts., N. Chynoweth - 19 pts., T. Watson - 18 pts. and D. Boyce - 16 pts. Ladies high single and triple - Michelle Angiers, 297, 656 and average - Nelly Chynoweth - 187. Mens high single and triple - Lyle Jewell, 253, 601 and average - Harry Smith, 195.

After six weeks away, Jesse and Hilda Buxcey had a welcome home gift with the news of a great grandson born to Mike and Kim Buxcey on Wednesday, March 21. Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson are happy to announce the safe of a daughter born on St. Patrick's Day, March 17. Perhaps this little verse, seen on a sampler, says it all? Cleaning and scrubbing can wait until tomorrow. For babies grow up we've learned to our sorrow. So quiet down cobwebs. Dust go to sleep. I'm rocking my baby and babies don't keep.

Ten interested members of the Norland Water Works turned out for the annual meeting on Thursday, March 22. In the absence of a chairman, trustee John Maunder chaired the meeting and secretary-treasurer, Vernon LeCraw took the minutes. Jesse Buxcey and Fred Patullo were elected to fill the two vacant trustee offices. At a later meeting of the trustees, a chairman will be selected. You are reminded that your annual water bill of $30.00 is now due and needed to meet upcoming expenses. Please pay it at the township office.

Norm and Mary Graham and their children flew to Vancouver to visit Norm's brother, Colin and his family this week during the winter school break holiday. Recent visitors to Florida for three weeks were Rudy and Ruth Janke and family who enjoyed a holiday in this southern state.

These youngsters, all members of the Monmouth Figure Skating Club, performed in Wilberforce Friday as the club held its final performance of the year in front of a packed arena.

Wilberforce News

by Winnie Schofield

The year 1981 will mark one hundred years of municipal administration for the Township of Monmouth. In 1881 Monmouth Township separated from a union with Cardiff and Glamorgan townships and became the self-governing township it is today.

We can all be proud of our township and its achievements. We have an interesting background of pioneer life and community growth that should be remembered and appreciated by our children. Many residents have old documents, pictures or memories of people and events of the past. We would like to gather these together and show what we have accomplished over the years. Events worthy of remembrance and record will be used in the year 1981 which is less than two years away. We are asking the people of the Township of Monmouth from Tory Hill, Essonville and Wilberforce to get behind this project. The greatest care will be taken with pictures and documents and they will be returned to owners in good condition. Telephone Reg Schofield at 448-2598 with any suggestions or ideas.

United Church members from Gooderham, Tory Hill, Wilberforce and Highland Grove filled the church in Tory Hill on Sunday, March 18 to pay tribute to Harold Herlihey who has served as central treasurer for 11 years. Mr. Herlihey was presented with a leather bound bible for his years of faithful service by the grateful parishoners. Morris Bradley conducted the service. The congregation enjoyed the singing of their excellent choir.

Members of the Monmouth Senior Citizen group have enjoyed a very good winter season. The meetings have been well attended and the spring temperature is bringing out those absent because of inclement weather. One of these is Mrs. Brooking of Tory Hill who is always welcome at the piano to play happy songs for the popular singing. Fred Broad, vice president has been managing very well during the absence of president George Grant who is expected back from Florida at the end of April. At a recent pot luck supper, members were entertained by health nurse, Marion Tallman, who showed films on good eating habits for seniors and who distributed leaflets about food, arthritis, etc.

Euchre games followed while some enjoyed dancing and others took part in carpet bowling.

On April 9, the senior citizens will go by bus to see the Home Show in Toronto. There are so many interesting events available to members of this group.

Coboconk News

by Sheila Lake

A very interested group of citizens gathered at the community hall on Tuesday, March 20th, at 7 p.m. to learn what was happening in regards to the opening of Green Acres Restaurant at the corners of Hwy. 48 and 35, and their advertised "topless adult entertainment". Gordon McAllister acted as spokesman for the group, though there were a few angry, and uncalled for interruptions from the group, much to the annoyance to those present.

The reeve stated he had made inquiries re: the new management and was told it would be a steak house. However, as opening time, Friday, March 16 neared, it was learned that "topless" entertainment was also a feature. This upset local business people, the council and most residents in general. The Shadow Lake Cottage Association voiced their support to Bexley council to prohibit "topless" entertainment. Hasty council meeting(s) were called and bylaws passed in order to stop the whole affair. However, the hasty actions of a part of council members caused friction within the council.

The restaurant operator, Mr. Vanderveen, stated only two council members had approached him and introduced themselves, and had council met with him to discuss his plans, things would have been different.

I'm sure all council members had the welfare of our community in mind and acted as they saw best, but they unfortunately did not pull together. The questions asked, and the answers are lengthy, and some, better not discussed as the whole affair is a touchy situation and a number of legal charges are being laid.

The Green Acres is closed right now, not because they lost their licence but because the entire staff has left Mr. Vanderveen without help. Mr. Vanderveen, I believe now knows that the venture would not be a success and left alone, would have died a natural death. If the whole matter had been ventured into cautiously, as it should have been, there would have not been the flaring tempers, the charges now being pressed against a couple of council members by Mr. Vanderveen, the legal expense that is going to cost Bexley township ratepayers more money, etc. I'm sure it would have been worked out.

I do not want to see questionable entertainment in our area because we have enough of that thing on T.V., magazine articles, etc. It's all revolting - and our kids do not need it. But for goodness sake, if and when anything of this nature rears its ugly head, let's go slow, get good legal advice, talk to the party involved and try and work things out without threatening them or losing tempers, swearing, etc. It's a shameful affair, and those who attended Tuesday's meeting know it was totally disgraceful. And please, why must people interrupt the speaker and shout and in general, make fools of themselves even if they may be right? Can't it be done quietly? This proves a great annoyance to the 99 percent of us who wish to listen - and learn! Enough said!

A well-known older lady, who lived among us until age made it necessary to seek the shelter of a nursing home. Mrs. Nevada Moore, passed away last week at Case Manor. Mrs. Moore would have been 98 years old in July. She is the aunt of Pat Angiers, Morris Angiers and their brothers and sisters. Our sympathy to the family.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowins have moved from Grandy Road to the Cameron house on Water Street.

Mrs. John Rocchio is home after a lovely vacation in Hawaii. Rose's daughter-in-law Maureen who is married to Ron Rocchio runs a travel agency at Barrie, so Rose was invited along on a lovely trip. She thoroughly enjoyed her holiday and would love to go again. Who wouldn't?

This is the official opening day of our new Bank of Commerce even though it has been in service for the past week. More about that next week.

Mr. and Mrs. David Faulkner and children, Mrs. Ross Faulkner and son John's two little girls from Peterborough are all holidaying at the home of Lloyd Faulkner at Belleville.

On Wednesday evening, about 5 p.m. as I was about to enter the laundromat, a fellow approached me and inquired about the low level of the river. He had been standing, looking out at the dam and came to me when I stopped the car. He told me his father drowned in that water; asked had I lived here long, etc. He asked if I could recall a drowning and I told him I could. In fact, I watched as he was pulled from the water, then worked over on the ground now fronting the laundromat building. How time flies! He said it will be 17 years in July since his father drowned in our waters. He mentioned the danger signs at the dam but I told him so many ignore the signs and will take their small boats too close to the dam, get into the turbulent waters and are in trouble. I explained that I recall his father and another man had done just that and their boat upset. The young man, perhaps about 26 or 27 years old, thanked me for our conversation and departed with a downcast expression, recalling perhaps what might have been, had his father heeded the danger sign. He was a very nice young man, who stopped as he drove through our village, to learn about a family tragedy.

Few people can say they have not yet seen a robin. The little beauties are singing merrily each and every morning. As you step outdoors, you can easily hear them.

Carnarvon News

by Yvonne Penney

Did you realize that 90 percent of Red Cross work is done by volunteers? Can you imagine the cost if that work had to be paid for? It's another good reason to support your local Red Cross.

Many of our residents are returning home from their winter stay in the south. Bert and Libby Harrison of Carnarvon are home and looking very fit. Also Ken and June Bainon and Ken and Sheila Beatty of Hall's Lake have returned to their homes this past week after an enjoyable two month stay in Panama City, Florida.

We have certainly had some beautiful weather recently but I guess winter isn't over yet - it's snowing quite hard as I'm writing this column.

Mrs. Elvin Johnson and Ralph are off on a trip out west for a two week vacation.

Gwen Graham leaves this week for a short visit with her daughter and family in Fredericton, New Brunswick.

Our lakes are looking very bare these days - most of the fish huts have been removed. I guess the ice fishing season is pretty well over for another year.

We've lost another of our pioneers of the Carnarvon area. Mrs. Jack Harrison (Lizzie) passed away last Friday at Hyland Crest Home in Minden.

Guild of Fine Arts News

by Carole McLean

What does the guild do for me? As a member, as well as a productive craft person, I have often wondered where I would be without the support of the guild and the opportunities being a member have afforded me. It was only by accident that I became interested in pottery and although I started out in weaving and still enjoy that craft, my true niche has been achieved by my involvement in pottery. Without the guild, I would never have known the friendship of other crafts people, there would be no studio out of which to work, and there would be no outlet for my craft. So when I am called upon to help to contribute my time, it seems a small price to pay for the start and support. The undertaking the members become involved in and the volunteer work so generously given, benefit the community and therefore benefit each of us. In helping others we help ourselves. What you give comes back ten fold - in a variety of ways.

Weaving Group
The title of president of any group, regardless of size, carries with it an untold amount of work and responsibility and the weaving group is no exception. Judy Chapman, our president, receives correspondence from many guilds keeping us up to date on their activities and enquiring how we, as a relatively new group, are doing. One such correspondence recently came from Joan Foster, president of the Ontario Handweavers and Spinners, requesting an outline of our activities to date. As there is a tremendous interest in crafts at the present time, the Ontario Handweavers and Spinners as well as the Ontario Craft Council are interested in documenting the growth of groups in Ontario. This information of the numbers of guilds and individuals involved in weaving and spinning in Ontario will then be presented to the provincial government, the Ontario Arts Council, and the Ministry of Culture and Recreation.

The weaving group are busy preparing their fundraising efforts for the new "Guild Station Gallery". They are weaving special items to be raffled off at the conclusion of our summer exhibition and sale but will be on display at the Kinsmen Home Show in June as well as throughout the summer exhibition. They are also weaving covers for address book which will be available at the summer exhibition. They are quite lovely and will make a nice gift as well as memento of the Haliburton area.

Rug Hookers

The stitches were intricate and the variety endless, that Mary Stewart of Oakville Ontario, taught at the special meeting of the rug hookers group held at Marg Fidorchuk's on Monday, March 26. Mary, a friend of Ruby Law's, was visiting this past week and being an avid rug hooker, kindly consented to teach the Haliburton and Minden group the art of background stitches for wall hangings. Each will do a sampler depicting the varied stitches to be used for future reference.

The sampler will consist of the weaving stitch, chain, arrowhead, turkey, lyre, cobblestone, rawhide, daisy, seed, also the chess pattern and aztec pattern. When we have crafts people who are willing to share their knowledge and skills with others, we realize how our particular craft has serviced over the years and will continue to do so. Thank you Mary Stewart.

The next meeting of the rug hookers group will be held April 9 at Marg Fidorchuk's and on April 23 at Minden it will be held at Ruby Law's.

Pottery Group

It hardly seems possible that the spring session of the pottery group will soon be drawing to a close - the week of April 11 has been set for the last day of making new pots, and April 25 for glazing.

Do you have a complaint or a suggestion on how the pottery group could be improved? Then please attend the general meeting set for Monday, April 29 at 7 p.m. at Lakeview Centre. It takes all of us to keep the group running smoothly, so please plan to attend.

May 1 at 10 a.m. will be clean-up day as well as our annual pot luck dinner, so come along, bring a favourite dish and share in good company. Until then, happy potting.

ONTARIO GOVERNMENT TENDER NOTICE TO EQUIPMENT OWNERS

Letters will be received for inclusion on the mailing list to receive invitation bid contract tender forms and specifications for rental equipment required by the Ministry during the year 1979.

Letters must include an itemized list of equipment available for hire on which the supplier is interested in tendering and should be addressed to the District Engineer, Ministry of Transportation and Communications, Box 300, Bancroft, Ontario.

30th annual meeting of the Minden Red Cross

The 30th annual meeting of the Minden Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society was held on Tuesday, March 13, 1979 at the Fireside Restaurant, and was a great success. The dinner meeting was chaired by president Jim Burton and was attended by 62 members and guests. Rev. David Barclay gave the invocation and after dinner, the business meeting was conducted.

Annual reports were given by the secretary and treasurer and the following chairpeople: Memorial Fund, Hospital Statistical, Loan Cupboard, Campaign, A.I.D. Emergency Services and

C.P.R. David McKinlay reported that the 1979 campaign is well underway and showing a greatly appreciated response even at this early date.

Brigadier General James F. Westhead, Chairman, Emergency Services Ontario Division, Red Cross was the guest speaker. There are 300 million people in 127 countries around the world engaged in Red Cross work, he said, and the Minden Branch is a part of this huge family helping others in time of need. When the oil explosion and fire occurred in Mississauga last fall, Red Cross Emergency Services cared for 1,000 adults, children and babies from 11:00 p.m. to 10:00 a.m. providing shelter, clothing and food until more permanent arrangements could be made. This is only one type of disaster that Emergency Services covers, he said.

General Westhead was thanked by Paul Heffer on behalf of the Branch and was presented with a copy of "In Quest of Yesterday" as a token of appreciation.

Emergency Services has been organized in Minden and area under Allan E. Stott and will be working closely with Reeve, Council, Fire Department, OPP and other related services.

Millie Blair, Assistant Director of Emergency Services, Director of Tracing and Reunion, Director of Corps and Ken McBride, Director of Emergency Services accompanied General Westhead for the evening from Ontario Division in Toronto.

At the end of the evening, the following people were presented with certificates by General Westhead for their recent course taken in Emergency Services: Jean Anderson, Don Berry, Stan Blears, Estella Burch, Jim Burton, Grace Coburn, Helen Johnson, Dr. Jeff Lodenquai, Dave Magee, David McKinlay and Donna Monk.

Kinmount Klippings

by Fran Crawford

Hi folks. We have had such nice weather for the school winter break. This is Monday morning and a really cold wind is blowing and it's cloudy. A few snowflakes are in the air.

Mrs. Nila Swanton is home from hospital.

Mrs. Dorcen Chalmers is in hospital in Toronto.

Mrs. Albert Stata went to Peterborough Civic Hospital on Friday.

Thursday night Kinmount lost to Norland in hockey the score was 7-6. Too bad boys.

Friday night Gladys Silver won $25.00 at bingo. There was a good crowd. Players from Haliburton, Norland, Gooderham and Minden were among the crowd. This week there will be 56 numbers called for $160.00 jackpot.

Winner of $13.50 50-50 draw at branch 441 Saturday night was Maizie Brohm of Cobocok.

Ray Allen won the $20.00 hockey pool at the Legion Saturday night.

A good number of folks went to Minden Saturday for the Greg Anderson Memorial Hockey Tournament. There were six teams playing, two Kinmount teams and Cobocok, Norland, Ormel and the Dominion Hotel.

The Dominion came first and Kinmount Imperials second.

Gary and Diane Byrne of Janetville spent Sunday in town visiting the Gardiners. Mrs. Elsie Searlet is holidaying this week with the Gar-diner family.

Mr. Bill Upton and Mr. Garnet Greer of Uterston were visiting with the Crawford family on the weekend.

A good time was had by all at the Legion dance, Saturday night. The next dance will be April 7.

The water is off downtown this morning. The Kinvale is carrying water to make their coffee (etc.). The lumbermen has been closed too. Tom Wilson is hooking up the new pump so everything will be back to normal shortly.

Don't forget this week is Wintario again.

A new store opened on the weekend in the building that used to be Douglas's. It is owned by Shorters and will be open seven days a week. Bye for this week.

Board chairman was guest speaker at Minden W.I.

The March meeting of Minden Women's Institute was held at the parish hall, March 21. Mrs. L. Cox presided and opened the meeting with a verse and welcomed everyone. After the usual opening, the roll call of a verse remembered from school days was answered by 15 members and three guests. Mrs. W. Moore, convener, introduced Lloyd Johnson, chairman of the County Board of Education. He gave a very enlightening report and facts about the changes in some Ontario courses and the results of a number of surveys. His talk was very interesting and those who missed it, missed a great speaker. Mr. Johnson also said that Board meetings are open to the public though few visit them. Questions and discussion followed.

Mrs. Cox thanked the speaker for coming and presented him with a gift.

The District Executive report was read. The district annual meeting will be held at Fenelon Falls United Church, May 24, with Powles Corners' branch acting as hosts.

Mrs. W. Moore reported 29 cards sent since the last meeting. A collection for this fund and pennies for friendship was taken. Also mentioned were 4-H Club achievement days at the Ontario Government building in Lindsay March 31, 9:30 - 12:30 and April 11 from 7 - 10 p.m.

Final details for the annual bus trip were given and further news will be available later.

The president mentioned that this is the "Year of the Child", and asked members to bring their ideas to the next meeting.

Following the meeting, all enjoyed a social half hour and lunch served by the committee. Winner of the raffle for the little gift was Maude Coulter.

Next meeting will be at 2 p.m. at United Church hall, April 18. Speaker on world affairs will be Mrs. M. Bunker.

Anyone interested in attending is welcome.
